Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 19 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dull start with mist and fog. Staying cloudy.

Today:
Cold and dull start, with widespread low cloud, mist and areas of fog. While fog is likely to lift for many, it will stay overcast throughout. A few spots of light rain or drizzle possible, most likely by the evening. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy with hill fog and outbreaks of light rain and drizzle. Turning drier with isolated clear spells potentially spreading inland after midnight. Less cold than previous nights, but still chilly. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Monday:
Another cloudy start for most, with hill fog. Cloud breaks are expected to develop, with some sunny spells possible. Staying rather chilly, especially inland and despite the sunny spells. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cold, dry and rather cloudy Tuesday and Wednesday with overnight frosts. Some sunny or brighter spells possible. Staying cold Thursday, with a chance of rain, perhaps briefly wintry over hills.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.